C is for Cookie!

Activities

Five Chocolate Cookies

Five chocolate cookies lying on a tray.
(hold up fingers)

One jumped up and ran away!
(run fingers away)

Continue to count down.

No chocolate cookies lying on a tray.
(hold up empty hands)

Next time I'll eat them all right away!

I am Making Cookie Dough

I am making cookie dough
(circle arms like a bowl)

Round and round the beaters go!
(roll hands)

Add some flour from a cup,
(shake pretend cup)

Stir, stir, stir that batter up.
(stirring motion)

Roll them, cut them nice and neat.
(rolling pin motion)

Put them on a cookie sheet.
(pretend to place cookies)

Bake them, count them 1-2-3.
(count cookies)

Serve them to my friends for tea.
(take a bite!)

Early Literacy Tip

You may often hear the phrase “read with your child fifteen minutes a day.” No one expects young children to sit and be read to for that long at one sitting. It is more important for the interaction between you and your children to be a good one than for it to be long. Keeping the interaction around books enjoyable helps children understand that reading is fun and will keep them motivated to learn to read.
