One named Jack

(wiggle one finger)

And one named Jill.

(wiggle the other finger)

Waddle away Jack.

Waddle away Jill.

(place hands behind back)

Come back Jack.

Come back Jill.

(bring hands back to the front)

Early Literacy Tip

When you give your children positive reinforcement by clapping or telling them that they did a great job, you are encouraging them to act independently and cooperatively. To encourage independence and cooperation at home, use activities that your child can do easily, and don't forget to give lots of positive reinforcement.
